

2011 Call for Board Nominations

Nominations for the Council on Homeopathic Education, CHE Board of Directors

Are you looking for a challenging leadership position that impacts local, state, provincial and national homeopathic education in the United States and Canada? During this time of unprecedented growth and public and governmental recognition, would you like to serve the homeopathic profession? The CHE is currently accepting applications for open positions and the 2011 CHE election.

The CHE accredits both educational institutions and programs offering instruction in homeopathy. The Council was formed in 1982 to establish and maintain the quality and integrity of the profession and is governed by a Board of elected volunteers. CHE is in the process of seeking recognition from the U.S. Department of Education as a specialized accrediting agency. This recognition would be an acknowledgement of our expertise in ensuring quality education and allow programs to access federal student aid funds.

Accreditation Defined

Accreditation is a voluntary peer review process that identifies and acknowledges educational programs and/or institutions for achieving and maintaining a level of quality, performance and integrity based on educational and professional standards.

Standards of Accreditation

- Are set by practitioners and educators in the profession.
- Are designed to encompass diversity in curriculum competencies and organization - as well as methods of instruction - to reflect the diversity in professional practice.
- Are continually reviewed to ensure they reflect the most current practices and ethical guidelines.
- Are based on regulations set forth by the U.S. Department of Education for accrediting bodies.
- Include complaint and appeals procedures to provide due process related to the interpretation of standards for individuals, programs and schools.

The Following Positions are Open for 2011:

- Directors (3-4)
- Public Members (1-2)

To be eligible as a candidate for a Board of Director position the following criteria apply

- Be committed to attend all Board Meetings (monthly conference calls)
- Actively participate throughout the year
- Assume Board leadership roles
- Support the mission, vision, values, and goals of CHE
- Fairly consider other points of view, make constructive suggestions, reach consensus, and help the Board make decisions that benefit homeopathic education, the CHE, or others served by the CHE mission.
- Represent and promote CHE to individuals, the public, Industry and other organizations

Any person may nominate an individual, including oneself.

The deadline for submitting nominations is December 15, 2010, 12:00 midnight PT
